

The Loomis Endowed Academic Award in LATIN
&
The Groton Endowed Academic Award in GREEK

The Department of Classics at St. Olaf College announces the 22nd annual Loomis Latin Award competition and the 21st annual Groton Greek Award competition.

First prize ($300), second prize ($200), and third prize ($100) in each contest will be determined by performance on a one-hour sight-translation exam.

Both one-hour exams will be given on Wednesday, May 3, 2023, in Tomson 310 between 3 and 9 p.m. Stop by the Classics Department any time between 3 and 8 p.m. to obtain a copy of the exam (or exams, if you would like to take both). No Latin or Greek dictionaries, grammar books, or other translation aids, in either print or electronic format, are permitted.

Winners will be announced on Wednesday, May 10, 2023.

Any current St. Olaf College student is eligible to take one or both of the exams, but only those who have studied Latin or ancient Greek beyond the elementary level are likely to do well.