

A CLINICAL HEALTH PSYCHOLOGIST'S JOURNEY: ST OLAF STUDENT TO EBOLA RESPONDER

Dr. Anne Dobmeyer '93

Captain, United States Public Health Service

Date: Monday, March 4

3:30 PM | RNS 150

This presentation will describe professional activities within one of the lesser-known specialties: clinical health psychology. Through the lens of one St. Olaf psychology graduate, it will explore opportunities within clinical health psychology that interface with primary care, public health, and infectious disease, including support of a Liberian field hospital for patients with Ebola.
